

Three folk songs – Op. 41, No. 4

Heinrich Heine
 Translator unknown

Felix Mendelssohn–Bartholdy (1809–1847)

Engraved by Cecil Rigby

3. Over their grave the linden is growing

Assai sostenuto

mf p mf p mf p mf

Soprano
 O-ver their grave the lind-en is grow-ing; the birds sweet-ly sing-ing, and the soft winds—

Alto
 O-ver their grave the lind-en is grow-ing; the birds sweet-ly sing-ing, and the soft winds—

Tenor
 O-ver their grave the lind-en is grow-ing; the birds sweet-ly sing-ing, and the soft winds

Bass
 O-ver their grave the lind-en is grow-ing;

cresc. dim. cresc. dim. cresc. dim. cresc. dim.

S
 blow - ing, while on the green-sward— 'neath its shade sit vil - lage

A
 blow - ing, while on the green-sward 'neath its shade sit vil - lage

T
 blow - ing, while on the green-sward— 'neath its shade sit vil - lage

B
 while on the green-sward 'neath its shade sit vil - lage